Foreword

This report on the Population of Cities, Towns, Villages and Associated Localities is an expansion of the 3rd and 20th June 2022 reports on the Population of Cities, Towns, and Villages to include localities associated with each village and localities that are not associated with any village. It also serves to effect edits resulting from computational changes and revisions realized in some of the census districts. The report marks the completion of the disaggregated population count of the 2022 Population and Housing Census by sex.

As stated above, it is important to note that there have been changes in the population of some villages due to the re-alignment of villages and localities in some districts as well as changes in locality codes realized during further data management processes.

Significant effort has been made to check and ensure that correct place names are used. However, it should be noted that the names and/or boundaries of some villages are a subject of dispute or legal challenge. For such cases, the names used in this report are as per advice and guidance given by district authorities.

Further analysis of the census data will result in the release of a series of thematic reports which as part of their coverage provide obtained values on various demographic and statistical measures and indicators. These will bolster Statistics Botswana's continuing work to produce timely quality data for use nationally and internationally.

This updated and expanded report supersedes all the reports already published on populations of cities, towns and villages and is therefore the working and reference document going forward.

1. Technical Notes

1. TOTAL POPULATION

Total population is established on the de facto definition of the population which refers to individuals recorded to the geographical area where they were present at a specified time. It comprises the number of persons who were reported and recorded to have spent the night with the household prior to the day it (household) was first contacted and enumerated, during the enumeration period.

2. CENSUS DISTRICT

For census operational convenience, the country has been divided into 28 census districts of which some correspond to a whole administrative district or a sub-district, or a township. Cities and towns are census districts, and make up a total of seven (7). These are Gaborone, Francistown, Lobatse, Selibe-Phikwe, Orapa, Jwaneng and Sowa.

Other census districts are designated as follows: Southern District comprises of Ngwaketse, Barolong and Ngwaketse West census districts; Central district is sub-divided into Serowe/Palapye, Central Mahalapye, Central Bobonong, Central Boteti, and Central Tutume census districts; North West District comprises of Ngamiland East, Ngamiland West, the Okavango Delta and Chobe census districts; Ghanzi District comprises of Ghanzi, Charles Hill and the Central Kgalagadi Game Reserve (CKGR) census districts; Kgalagadi District is sub-divided into Kgalagadi South and Kgalagadi North census districts; Kweneng District is sub-divided into Kweneng East and Kweneng West census districts, and lastly, Kgatleng, South-East and North-East administrative districts are each designated as a census district.

3. VILLAGE

Villages are determined by population size as one of the characteristics used to classify a settlement. Furthermore , a village is usually distinguished by the presence of a tribal authority (a Chief, a Tribal Authority, a Chief's Representative or Headman) and the availability of certain facilities such as a school, clinic or health centre, tribal administration offices, Botswana Police offices, Rural Administration Centre (RAC), water reticulation, Post Offices, etc.

4. LOCALITY

A locality is defined as any human settlement with a name and identifiable boundaries. This could be part of a city, town, village, or a standalone entity such as a cluster of cattle posts, lands area (masimo) or a farm. Most standalone localities are associated with villages. However, there are those that are within a district but not associated to any village. These are called non-affiliated localities.

The geographical coding scheme, reflecting the administrative hierarchy of areas, to ensure consistency and clarity of the numeric identifiers is given below.

Cartography Geo Coding Scheme

| Ecological Classification | Locality Code |
|---------------------------------|---------------|
| Cities and Towns | 0 |
| Village | 1 |
| Lands Area | 2 or 7 |
| Cattle Post | 3 or 8 |
| Mixture (lands and cattle post) | 5 |
| Freehold Farm | 4 or 9 |
| Mixture | 5 |
| Border Post or Camp | 6 |
| Non Affiliation | 99 |

2. Changes In The Populations In Some Districts And Villages

The 2022 Population and Housing Census reports released so far, as previously stated, were subject to changes following further data processing. There have been some slight changes in the populations of some districts and also between localities within districts due to the following;

- a. Realignment of some villages and localities within districts: An example is a realignment of villages between Ngwaketse, Barolong and Ngwaketse West districts where some villages from Ngwaketse were excised to either Barolong or Ngwaketse West.
- b. Changes due to assignment of codes and Enumeration Areas by Extensions: Examples are Francistown and Gaborone cities. The two (2) cities were affected by the realignment of enumeration areas to extensions; while differences in other districts and villages' populations were affected by the realignment of locality codes between villages and their associated localities within a given district.
- c. Changes in populations due to the realignment of some localities to their associated villages: A sizeable number of localities did not have names and in the process of corrections based on coordinates, they were moved to their rightful associated villages and districts.
